Vintage Notes:

Yet another wet start to the season, but July and August compensated for it. 2013 turned out to be the hottest summer of the decade, followed by one of the coolest falls we have ever seen. It was a great year for grape growing, giving us fine tannins as well as balanced and concentrated flavours.

Naturally low in tannins and histamines, this unique Austrian varietal can be the perfect varietal for those who love red wine but find it doesn't always agree with them. It has also been described as a rare red that drinks like a white!
